Dear Friends;

On this auspicious occasion of Durga Puja, we extend our arms to welcome all of you in our WCBA family. We receive you with sincere greetings and warmest feelings.

WCBA (Worcester County Bengali Association) is profoundly proud to host the th Durga Puja ceremony in its own unique traditions. Although the organization came in to existence almost 30 years back when just 7-8 Bengali families found each other in and around the city of Worcester. They basically used to get together on weekends to have a good time. More they met each other closer they came and more ideas emerged. Their bondage gradually got stronger, their confidence to do things together was high. So, on one weekend they thought of launching the celebration of Saraswati Puja. Then in February, 1989, with hardly 20-25 of them, first time ever, these family friends organized the event of Saraswati Puja in a small church at Cambridge Street in Worcester. Although, it was a very small program but they treasured a huge amount of fun in each other's association, celebrating the puja, enjoyment in cooking together, and taking tons of pride in having their children perform. Slowly, a few more Bengali families came on board and in next few years the family of 7-8 grew up to families of 10-12. They all continued their routine weekend gatherings, loving and caring for each other as if they are all part of ONE BIG FAMILY!

Today, you have gathered here to witness and experience the divine rituals of Durga Puja, treasure the blessings from the Debi and have a joyful time with friends and family members. Many organizers of WCBA family have put together a great program with delicious dinner and lively entertainment that will make you feel immensely nostalgic and although far from our homeland you will get a feel and touch of Durga Puja of Bengal. We hope you feel at home and feel that this weekend is one of the best you ever had. We are so glad to have you with us in this divine celebration.

May the blessings of Ma Durga keep us all bonded together and being there for each other?

Our heartfelt greetings and best wishes for the Durga Utshab and our Subhechchha and Abhinandan for the auspicious Bijoya.

Sincerely;

The Organizers of WCBA

Sunset Land

I swing over the sunset land
The land of prairies, the land of plains,
The land of promise and hope and gain,
The land of joy, the land of pain,
The land of laughter and fun and games,
The land of sun, the land of rain,
The land of sadness, but love and chains,
The land we call home, the land of Earth.

পূজার আর কয়েকটা দিন বাকী। ইচ্ছে হচ্ছে দু এক লাইন লেখা পাঠাই। তার জন্যে ভাবতে হবে কিন্তু - লেখার স্রোত কোথায়? যাকগে, বেশী চিন্তা না করে বরং লিখে ফেলাই শ্রেয়।

একটা ছোট অভিজ্ঞতার কথা বলি—

গতমাসে শ্বশুরীমা চলে গেলেন। শুধু রইল পড়ে তাঁর হাজারো স্মৃতি। তার মধ্যে তাঁর শাড়ির ভাণ্ডার বিশেষ ভাবে উল্লেখযোগ্য। দু- দুটো গদরেজে-র আলমারি ভরা তিনশো-র ওপর শাড়ী। প্রতিটি শাড়ী দোকানে কাচানো, সুন্দর করে উপযুক্ত হাস্যারে টাঙ্গানো- ব্লাউজসহ। সত্যি দেখার মত।

বাফু, কাঞ্চন, মিষ্টি বারবার বলতে লাগল - তমার পছন্দ মত কিছু শাড়ী নিয়ে যাও। বললাম, এখন নয়, এসব জিনিস এত ভাড়াভাড়ি হাত দেবার নয়- যেমন আছে- থাক না।

এভাবে কদিন কেটে গেলো। রোজই আলমারি খোলা হয়। এমনি একদিন আচমকা-ই চোখ পড়ল মিষ্টি গোলাপি রঙ -এর একটা শাড়ীর দিকে। তখন ওটার দিকে বারে বারে চোখ যায়। মনে হল- কদিন পরেই নাতনি হবে, তার জন্য-ও ত ভাবা দরকার!!

সেই শাড়ী দেখতে দেখতে মনটা চলে গেলো- কয়েক বছর আগের পূজোর নাটকে। ক্ল্যাশব্যাঁকে দেখতে পেলাম- তুলিকা বলছে - “মা কে মনে পড়ছে। মার সেই গোলাপি শাড়ী; সেই হাই হিল জুতো!” তুলিকার চোখের প্রকাশ, দীপ্ত চাহনি, অর হাসি, মঞ্চটাকে দখল করা ছিল!

সেই নাটকের-ই আরেক অঙ্ক! গয়নার বাস্ত্রের চাবি নিখোঁজ! সবাই মিলে তাই নিয়ে ধুকুমার!

বাড়িতেও দু দিন বাদে দেখি সেই কাণ্ড। কাঞ্চন দিনে, রাতে, আলমারি খুলছে। কত কি যে বেরোচ্ছে! অনেক বাস্ত্র! অনেক চাবি! কিন্তু সেই আসল চাবি, treasure chest খোলার চাবি, আর কিছুতেই খুঁজে পাচ্ছে না।

বারবার বললাম - “বাস্ত্র হচ্ছে কেনও? আমরা গেলে খুঁজো।” ও বলে - “এখনি পেলে ভালো- তোমরা থাকতে থাকতে!”

...

এইসব নাটকীয় মিল দেখে আমি অনেক হাসলাম, কাঞ্চন-কেও বললাম।

তাই ভাবি জীবনটা কি নাটকের-ই আর এক রঙ্গমঞ্চও?

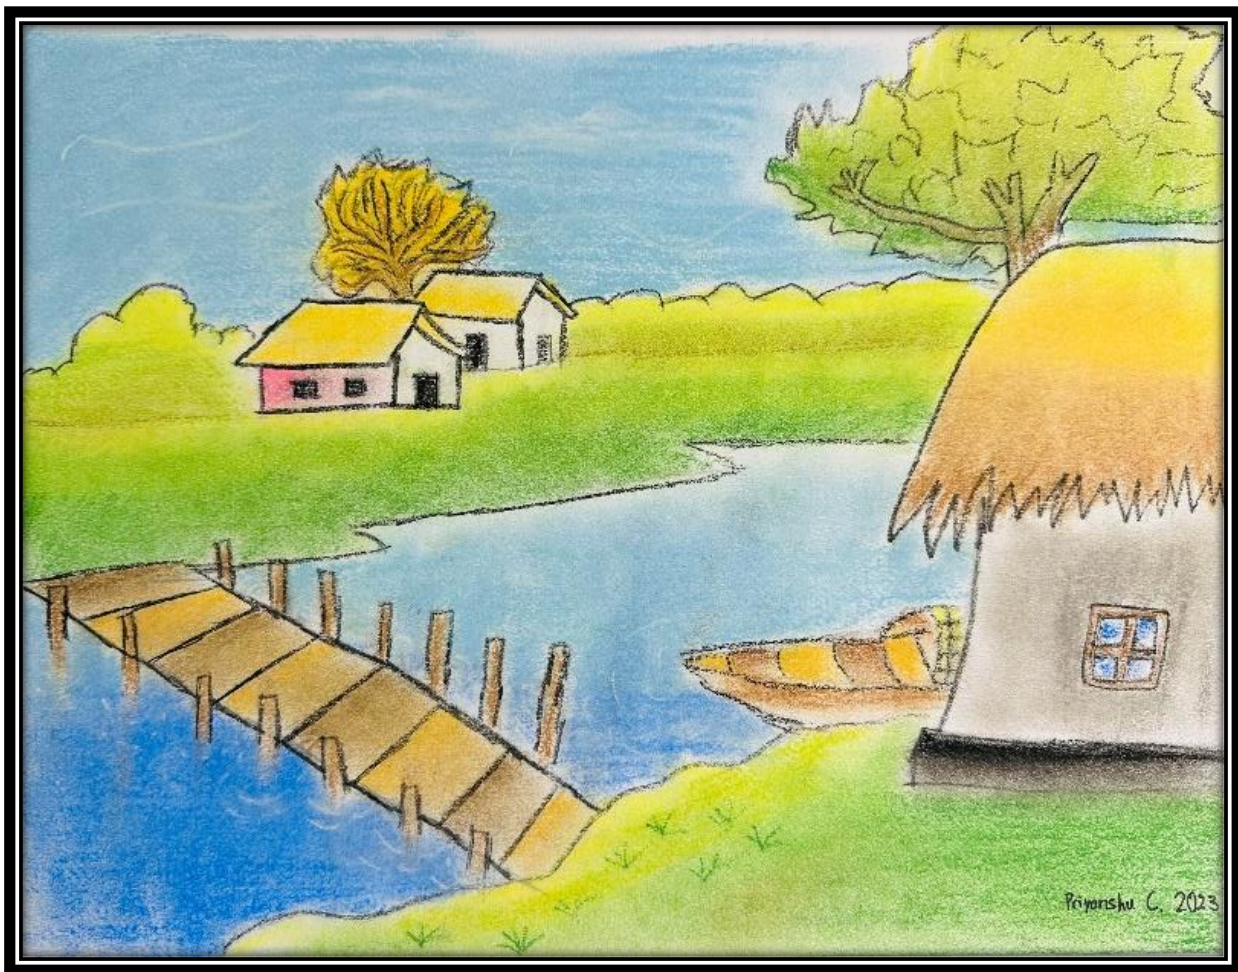

Glorious Maa Durga

Who is the glorious Women saving us from all our fear
Who is the hidden shadows making us have to peer
Who is the rustling wind perking up all our ears
Goddess Durga we call! Goddess Durga
When the time comes she mixes red, orange, and yellow
We jump in the leaves and our legs become jello
The pumpkin spice lattes make us turn mellow
Goddess Durga we sing! Goddess Durga

A Ray of Hope - by Arjun Mukherjee

When Satyajit Ray was born, in the heart of Kolkata just as summer of 1921 was about to peek into view, he was practically destined to be a paragon of the arts. Born to Sukumar Ray, the children's poet, and Suprabha Ray, Satyajit took an early interest in writing. He found himself fascinated by the production process of Sandesh, the famous Bengali children's magazine that his grandfather, Upendrakishore Ray, founded - something that would launch him into the literary genius he would soon become.

Even though Satyajit Ray was a erudite polymath who excelled in art, music, poetry, and prose, his forays into cinema established him as an incomparable creative. Inspired by neorealist films such as Bicycle Thieves, Ray's debut and most-well known film, Paather Panchali, is so important because of its revolutionary and realistic portrayal of poverty, love, and grief. Unlike modern day films filled with exaggeration, irrationality, and unnecessary extravagance, Paather Panchali and the entire Apu trilogy serves as an extraordinary artifact for a time that once was. Additionally, for many of his later films, Satyajit Ray composed his own music - something that was virtually unheard of for filmmakers. In Charulata, Ray's favorite work, he wrote and transcribed the musical score which added new dimensions to the heavily detailed yet beautifully simple movie.

Still, my personal favorite creation of Satyajit Ray's mind is and always will be his Feluda stories, published in the Sandesh magazine which he had resurrected and remodeled. Gopa Majumdar, who translated the Feluda series, wrote "That Satyajit Ray was a film-maker was something I, and many other children of my generation, came to know only when we were older. At least, we had heard he made films which seemed to throw all the grown-ups upstairs into raptures, but to us he was simply the man who had opened a door to endless fun and joy, in the pages of a magazine [Sandesh] that was exclusively for us." The Complete Adventures of Feluda, almost certainly inspired by the Byomkesh Bakshi fables, was important because it helped open the door of mystery novels for readers who were not quite old enough to read more adult-ish works. Although Feluda, the brilliant amateur detective, was the main character, the tales are narrated by Feluda's young and naive cousin, Topshe. This helps cast often complicated and precise storylines in a comprehensible and lucid manner, making it easily presentable to younger readers. Other older pieces of mystery literature are not as understandable, partly due to their use of heavily ornamented and antiquated language that makes reading these writings extremely difficult. Feluda stands as a contrast to this, because even today, Bengali children all around the world find themselves enchanted in the world of Feluda, Topshe, and Lalmohan Babu.

In a world filled with divisions, distractions, and hardships, Satyajit Ray's creativity serves as a beacon of hope, cultural diversity, and curiosity. His stories remind all readers that even in the most ordinary of people and the most unassuming happenings, there is magic and beauty. He stands as an inspiring and cherished storyteller who will continuously captivate the minds of children and adults everywhere through his timeless tales of wisdom and wonder.
